Company Overview

AthenaInvest is an industry leader in Behavioral Portfolio Management with a patented research process built on a deep academic foundation. Led by C. Thomas Howard, PhD, CEO and Chief Investment Officer, the Firm's unique investment approach is based on proprietary research developed over 40 years of interaction with leading academics and institutional managers.

AthenaInvest pioneered a formalized framework to apply behavioral finance principles, known as Behavioral Portfolio Management ("BPM") to create what we believe is a unique and systematic way to view asset allocation, investment selection, and tactical management.

AthenaInvest has been registered as an investment adviser with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") since June 16, 2008.

Company Ownership Structure

AthenaInvest is wholly owned by AthenaInvest Inc. ("Athena Parent Company"), which is, in turn, largely owned by members of the AthenaInvest Inc. team. C. Thomas Howard is the only shareholder in excess of 25% and acts as our Chief Executive Officer.

Services We Offer

AthenaInvest offers a range of services including:

- Investment management services for private funds (each, a "Fund" and collectively, the "Funds"), investment advisers and broker dealers, including the management of separate accounts ("Separate Account Management") and the creation of model or target portfolios
- Investment research subscriptions ("Investment Research", as further described below) for investment advisers, broker dealers and institutions
- Sub-advisory services for registered investment companies and institutions
- To a limited degree, Separate Account Management and Investment Research for individual investors

The following paragraphs describe our services. Please refer to the description of each investment advisory service listed below for information on how we tailor our advisory services to your needs.

Investment Management Services

AthenaInvest offers investment management services to: (1) financial professionals to use with their clients, both directly and via model provider platforms, (2) private funds, (3) investment companies and institutions (via sub-advisory agreements) and (4) individual investors.

In connection with our services to financial professionals, the client and client's advisor may grant AthenaInvest trading discretion for the client's account, in which case both AthenaInvest and the client advisor act as fiduciaries to the client. This arrangement is typically called "dual-contract," because the client has two advisors with fiduciary responsibility.

Financial professionals may also access AthenaInvest's investment management services through model provider platforms. In this arrangement, AthenaInvest is responsible for maintaining its investment model on the model provider's platform. The model provider remains responsible for trading according to the provided model and servicing the client accounts. AthenaInvest does not have trading discretion in such cases.

In connection with AthenaInvest's advisory services to private funds, this brochure is not intended as an offer to invest in any of such Funds. Rather, any such offer would only be made through the provisions of a Private Offering Memorandum (the "Memorandum") or Limited Partnership Agreement/Operating Agreement (collectively, the "LPA"). Information included in this brochure is qualified in its entirety by information included in a Fund's Memorandum or LPA. The Firm will generally not permit investors in Funds to impose limitations on the investment activities described in the Memorandum, LPA or other Fund documents. Each private fund advised by AthenaInvest is deemed to be a client of the Firm.

In connection with its advisory services to clients in general, AthenaInvest builds investment portfolios for its various clients using a variety of financial instruments, including, but not limited to, mutual funds, stocks, exchange traded products ("ETPs"), such as exchange traded funds ("ETFs") and exchange traded notes ("ETNs") (collectively referred to herein as ETPs, unless otherwise indicated), as well as combinations of U.S. equity, international equity, U.S. fixed income, cash and cash equivalents, and other asset classes. The number of funds, specific funds, specific securities and allocations to these asset classes will vary depending on the client and strategy implemented. Clients and/or client advisors may impose restrictions on trading in specific securities or types of securities.

Currently Offered Investment Strategies

Athena Global Tactical ETFs

The portfolio utilizes patented behavioral market indicators to gauge and select broad market-exposure ETFs among various equity markets, market capitalization or cash each month. The portfolio invests in long or leveraged positions within U.S. small, U.S. large or international equities when market indicators are strong. In certain circumstances, the position may be leveraged up to twice the market to enhance returns. During weak conditions, a portfolio can hold up to 100% in cash or cash equivalents. The portfolio normally holds a concentrated position of one broad equity market ETF or 200% leveraged broad market ETF when Athena's market indicators are strong.

Athena Pure Valuation | Profitability

The portfolio manager invests in stocks that pay dividends and have attractive valuation ratios along with leveraged balance sheets. Such stocks tend to be overlooked by investors and often can be purchased at attractive valuations. Each month, stocks are screened based on balance sheet, projected earnings, revenues, dividends, price ratios, and trading volume. The portfolio prefers stocks which are strategy categorized as either valuation or profitability and sector diversification is used to decrease industry concentration risk.

Athena Managed Equity

The portfolio employs a combination of specific strategies, including concentrated equity, dividend equity and tactical management to achieve its objectives. An overall allocation is first determined, and then specific strategies are selected to meet the portfolio's objective. Strategies and allocations may change over time to seek to provide the most attractive combination of investment opportunities.

Athena Dividend Income Equity

For this strategy, AthenaInvest seeks to invest in high-dividend paying equities. Each month, stocks are screened and selected based on patented behavioral research. The research measures manager behavior, strategy consistency and conviction, and seeks to identify stocks that are held in top relative portfolio positions within the equity mutual fund universe. The goal is to select the best ideas of the best managers. High dividend stocks are then sought to be selected from this universe. Sector and strategy diversification are also employed to reduce risk. This portfolio has been offered and continues to be offered by AthenaInvest to its separately managed accounts.

Athena Behavioral Capital Strategy

AthenaInvest seeks to capture high-return and low-correlation potential opportunities by dynamically allocating assets among various behavioral strategies. AthenaInvest, as of date of this Memorandum, has identified four such behavioral strategies that qualify for inclusion in the portfolio, though other attractive strategies may become eligible in the future. The four current strategies are: Global Tactical, Long / Short Volatility, Pairwise Arbitrage and Intelligent Equity. Consistent with its client agreements, AthenaInvest reserves the right to alter its strategies and to implement new strategies.

Investment Research

AthenaInvest offers investment professionals subscriptions to an online investment research application called Athena Investment Research (“AIR”). The AIR application contains AthenaInvest’s categorization and rating of mutual funds and stocks.

Sub-Advisory Services for Registered Investment Companies

AthenaInvest provides investment management services in a sub-advisory role for registered investment companies, such as to mutual funds and ETFs.

Separate Account Management for Individual Investors

In limited circumstances, AthenaInvest will directly manage a client’s account as the client’s advisor through an investment management agreement with the client.

Client Assets

As of December 31, 2019, Athena managed $427,283,518 in client assets, of which $122,456,395 was managed on a discretionary basis and $304,827,124 was managed on a non-discretionary basis. Non-discretionary assets include client assets which AthenaInvest does not have direct trading discretion, but are traded according to AthenaInvest’s investment strategies, such as for its model portfolio platform business and/or target portfolio service.

Item 5: Fees and Compensation

AthenaInvest provides advisory services to clients in several different ways, and thus the fees charged vary by services offered. Management fees can be calculated by AthenaInvest, the client advisor, the custodian, or the model portfolio provider as per the investment management agreement/LPA. Performance-based fees, if applicable with respect to any account, are calculated in accordance with the relevant agreements. Please note that lower fees for comparable services may be available from other sources or providers.

The term “Intermediaries” used herein means affiliated or unaffiliated third-party financial institutions and investment advisory firms that either:

- refer their clients (either individual clients or institutional clients) to AthenaInvest; or
- subscribe to AthenaInvest’s models and / or target portfolios to manage their clients’ accounts or to make such models or portfolios available to their clients.

Separate Account Management for Intermediaries

AthenaInvest charges its own management fee, which is separate and distinct from the fee paid by the client to his or her advisor. AthenaInvest uses the following guidelines for its asset-based annual fee (“Sub-Advisory Fee”) to clients referred by Intermediaries:

TOTAL ASSETS (AT THE INTERMEDIARY LEVEL)	ANNUAL FEE
$0 - $10 MILLION	1.00%
$10 MILLION - $25 MILLION	0.75%
$25 MILLION - $100 MILLION	0.50%

Sub-Advisory Fees will be billed either monthly or quarterly in advance or arrears, as agreed with each Intermediary. Under this arrangement, clients authorize AthenaInvest to deduct fees directly from their account(s). With regard to contracts requiring payment in advance, in the event of contract termination before the end of the relevant billing period, the unearned fees as a percentage of days in the billing period will be calculated as of the termination date and be refunded to the client in a timely manner.

In general, Sub-Advisory Fees will not exceed 1% of assets under management and are negotiable with Intermediaries, based on the following factors:

- Total asset value to be managed on behalf of the Intermediary;
- Degree of customization needed for the models to be used for the Intermediary’s clients; and
- The number of accounts to be managed for the Intermediary

Model or Target Portfolios for Intermediaries

AthenaInvest provides model or target portfolios to Intermediaries and uses the following guidelines for the asset based annual fee (“Portfolio Fee”) to Intermediaries:

TOTAL ASSETS (AT THE INTERMEDIARY LEVEL)	ANNUAL FEE
$0 - $10 MILLION	1.00%
$10 MILLION - $25 MILLION	0.75%
$25 MILLION - $100 MILLION	0.50%

Portfolio Fees will be billed either monthly or quarterly in advance or arrears, as agreed with each Intermediary. Under this arrangement, Intermediaries pay AthenaInvest the Portfolio Fee. With regard to contracts requiring payment in advance, in the event of contract termination before the end of the relevant billing period, the unearned fees as a percentage of days in the billing period will be calculated as of the termination date and be refunded to the client in a timely manner.

In general, Portfolio Fees will not exceed 1% of assets under management and are negotiable with Intermediaries based on the following factors:

- Total asset value of the assets managed according to the model or target portfolios;
- Degree of customization needed for the models to be implemented by the intermediary; and
- The number of accounts to be managed by the Intermediary according to the model or target portfolio

Investment Research for Investment Advisors, Broker Dealers and Institutions

The standard subscription fee is $2,000 per year and is payable annually or quarterly in advance. In the event of contract termination before the end of the relevant billing period, the unearned subscription as a percentage of days in the billing period will be calculated as of the termination date and be refunded to the client in a timely manner.

AthenaInvest offers an investment research data feed service to institutional investment companies and academic institutions for a subscription fee of $50,000 per year and is payable annually or quarterly. The subscription fee may be negotiated for a lesser amount based on intended use and may be waived entirely for academic institutions based on the type of research conducted.

Sub-Advisory Services for Registered Investment Companies and Institutions

AthenaInvest serves registered investment companies in a sub-advisory role. Compensation is determined by the investment management agreement entered into with each entity and is normally based on a percentage of assets under management. With regard to contracts requiring payment in advance, in the event of contract termination before the end of the relevant billing period, the unearned fees as a percentage of days in the billing period will be calculated as of the termination date and be refunded to the client in a timely manner.

Separate Account Management for Individual Investors

AthenaInvest uses the following guidelines for the asset based annual fee (“Management Fee”) to clients.

TOTAL ASSETS (AT THE ACCOUNT LEVEL)	ANNUAL FEE
$0 - $1 MILLION	1.00%

Management Fees will be billed either monthly or quarterly in advance or arrears, as agreed with each client. Under this arrangement, clients authorize AthenaInvest to deduct fees directly from their account(s).

In general, Management Fees will not exceed 1.00% of assets under management and are negotiable with each client based on the following factors:

- Total asset value to be managed on behalf of the client;
- Degree of customization needed for the models to be used; and
- The number of accounts to be managed for the client.

Clients may elect to pay by check rather than having payment deducted directly from their account(s). If a client wishes to terminate the client-advisory relationship with us, the client may do so by providing 30 days’ written notice. For a client who pays in advance, we will prorate the advisory fees received through the termination date and send the client a refund of the prepaid, unearned portion of advisory fee. We process refund payments at the end of each month and will send the client a check or credit the client's account(s).

For a client who pays in arrears, we will prorate the advisory fees earned through the termination date and send the client an invoice for the advisory fees due.

AthenaInvest Managed Accounts Holding Athena Mutual Funds or ETFs

In rare circumstances when it is in the client's best interest, AthenaInvest may purchase an Athena-managed Mutual Fund or ETF to hold in the client's account. In order to avoid AthenaInvest getting paid two management fees, Athena waives its management fee for any portion of a client's account that is invested in an Athena-managed Mutual Fund or ETF. AthenaInvest still gets paid its management fee on the Mutual Fund or ETF.

Private Funds

AthenaInvest serves as the registered investment adviser to private funds. Compensation for such services is determined by the investment management agreement/LPA entered into with the Firm and the private fund. The management fee is typically based on a percentage of assets under management, such as an annual rate of 2% of the net assets of the Fund paid in arrears based on the average monthly value of each investor's capital account during the particular month.

From time to time, the Funds may enter into side letters or other written understandings with individual investors that have the effect of establishing rights under, or altering or supplementing, the terms of a particular fund's Memorandum and/or LPA. The altered terms may include but are not limited to the compensation received by the Firm or a general partner of the Fund, such as management fees and/or performance allocations (See Item 6 - Performance Based Fees and Side by Side Management). AthenaInvest does not impose a uniform schedule of management fees or performance-based compensation for all Funds (and their respective investors).

Each Fund typically bears and is charged with its own organizational and operating costs and expenses, and investors in the Funds bear these indirectly as Fund expenses. These costs and expenses vary and are set out in more detail in Memorandum and/or LPA for each Fund. A Fund typically bears its own expenses, including but not limited to legal (including fees related to legal filings relating to the Fund), compliance, auditing, accounting and other professional expenses, administration expenses and fees, marketing expenses (including reasonable travel and entertainment), investment expenses such as commissions, interest on margin accounts and other indebtedness, custodial fees, bank service fees, trade execution and management software, risk and portfolio analysis software, expenses related to the purchase, sale or transmittal of fund assets, and other reasonable expenses relating to the operation of the Fund.

Additional Fees and Expenses

As part of our investment advisory and related services to you, we may invest, or recommend that you invest, in mutual funds or ETPs. The fees that you pay to our Firm for investment advisory services are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by mutual funds or ETPs (described in each fund's prospectus) to their shareholders. These fees will generally include a management fee and other fund expenses.

You will also incur transaction charges and/or brokerage fees when purchasing or selling securities. These charges and fees are typically imposed by the broker-dealer or custodian through which your account transactions are executed. We do not share in any portion of the brokerage fees/transaction charges imposed by the broker-dealer or custodian. To fully understand the total cost you will incur, you should review all the fees charged by mutual funds, ETPs, our Firm, and others. For information on our brokerage practices, please refer to the “Item 12: Brokerage Practices” section of this Brochure.

Clients who are referred by Intermediaries will also pay other fees and / or commissions to Intermediaries for additional or other services performed by the Intermediary, such as an advisory fee and program fee. Clients should read the Intermediary’s disclosure document and other applicable documents thoroughly prior to entering into an adviser-customer relationship with the Intermediary.

If AthenaInvest advises a client to invest in a private fund to whom it provides investment advisory services, AthenaInvest typically waives its advisory fees in connection with such advice, except at the Fund level.

Item 6: Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

For qualified clients, AthenaInvest may accept performance-based fees for separate account management.

Performance-based fees create certain conflicts of interest including incentives for our Firm to make investments that are riskier or more speculative than would be the case in the absence of a performance-based fee formula or to otherwise take actions which would create a higher economic benefit to the Firm. Where applicable, in order to address this potential conflict of interest, a senior officer of our Firm periodically reviews such accounts to ensure that investments are suitable and that the account is being managed appropriately in light of the relevant investment objectives and risk tolerance.

Performance-based fees may also create an incentive for our Firm to overvalue investments which lack a market quotation. In order to address such conflict, we have adopted policies and procedures that require our Firm to “fairly value” any investments which do not have a readily ascertainable value.

Side-by-side management might provide an incentive for our Firm to favor accounts for which we receive a performance-based fee. For example, we may have an incentive to allocate limited investment opportunities, such as initial public offerings, to accounts where we indirectly receive performance-based fees, which indirectly benefits the Firm, over clients who are charged asset-based fees only. To address this conflict of interest, we have instituted policies and procedures that require our Firm to allocate investment opportunities (if they are suitable) in an effort to avoid favoritism among our clients, regardless of whether the Firm indirectly receive performance-based fees.

Private Funds

Affiliated general partners to private funds advised by the Firm may receive performance-based compensation in the form of performance allocations from the Funds, and the specific terms of such arrangements are set forth in each Fund’s Memorandum and/or LPA. Performance allocations are structured to comply with Rule 205-3 under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended (the “Advisers Act”), as applicable. AthenaInvest seeks to ensure that each Fund and any investor in such a Fund that is directly or indirectly subject to performance allocations satisfies the qualifications set forth in Rule 205-3 and has been advised of such allocations and their risks.

As described above in connection with other clients, the existence of performance allocations may create an incentive for the Firm to make riskier or more speculative investments on behalf of the Funds than would be the case in the absence of these arrangements. However, the Firm seeks to manage each Fund in accordance with the investment strategy disclosed in the Fund’s Memorandum and/or LPA to help ensure that investors are aware of the investment strategy and the risks associated with the strategy. The offering materials provided to potential investors in each Fund include detailed descriptions of profit allocations, risks of the investments, fees and expenses and potential conflicts of interest. The above-listed conflicts with respect to other clients are incorporated into this private fund discussion, as applicable.

Item 7: Types of Clients

In addition to private funds (as further described below), AthenaInvest provides investment management services to investment professionals, institutions, and a limited number of individual investors. We also provide sub-advisory portfolio management services to registered investment companies.

Generally, we require that clients initially invest a minimum of $100,000 with us. However, we may waive or increase that minimum at our sole discretion based on the platform and contractual obligations used to manage the investment. We may also combine account values for you and your minor children, joint accounts with your spouse, and other types of related accounts to meet the stated minimum.

Notwithstanding the above, we generally will have the right to terminate an account if it falls below a minimum size which, in our sole opinion, is too small to effectively manage on an efficient basis.

Private Funds

The Firm also provides investment advice to private funds. Private funds advised by the Firm may include partnerships, limited liability companies or other pooled investment vehicles formed under domestic or non-U.S. laws and operated as exempt investment pools under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the "Company Act"). Investors participating in such funds advised by the Firm may include high net-worth individuals, financial institutions, corporations, sovereign wealth funds, endowment funds, charitable organizations, public and private pension funds and other investment funds (which may include entities that are owned, directly or indirectly, by principals or other employees of AthenaInvest).

Interests in the Funds are offered on a private placement basis, and where applicable, in reliance on Section 3(c)(1) or 3(c)(7) of the Company Act to persons who generally are "accredited investors" as defined under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the "Securities Act"), "qualified clients" as defined under Rule 205-3 of the Advisers Act, and "qualified purchasers" (for 3(c)(7) funds) as defined under Section 2(a)(51) of the Company Act, and who are subject to certain other conditions, which are fully set forth in the offering documents of such Funds.

Minimum initial investment amounts vary among the Funds, as described in the applicable Fund's respective Memorandum and LPA. Such minimum investments, however, may be waived or modified by the applicable general partner of the Funds, in its sole discretion.

Item 8: Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

We utilize Behavioral Portfolio Management ("BPM") in connection with our investment advisory services. BPM focuses on mutual fund, ETP and security selection and portfolio construction based on behavioral factors. We use proprietary research to determine allocations to asset classes (such as U.S. equity, international equity, fixed income, cash, and other assets). We also use such research to provide guidance with respect to our allocations among the various investment strategy peer groups within each asset class. Mutual funds, stocks, ETPs and other investments are chosen based upon many factors, including our strategy peer groups, fund and stock diamond ratings, and our market barometers. Portfolios are generally reviewed and rebalanced monthly.

You should be aware of your risk tolerance and financial situation including the understanding that investing in securities involves the risk of total loss that you should be prepared to bear. We cannot guarantee the successful performance of an investment and we do not guarantee accounts against losses arising from market conditions and the specific investment strategies we employ.

We do not represent or guarantee that our services or methods of analysis can or will produce future results, successfully identify market tops or bottoms, or insulate clients from losses due to market declines. We cannot offer any guarantees or promises that your financial goals and objectives will be met. Past performance is in no way an indication of future performance.

The below is only a brief summary of some important risks associated with the Firm's investment strategies. Please refer to each product's Fact Sheet disclosure section or Fund Memorandum and LPA, as applicable, for a more complete list of risks.

Exchange Traded Products ("ETPs"). An ETP is a type of security that is derivatively priced, and which trades intra-day on a national security exchange. Because ETPs are derivatively priced, this means that the instrument's value is derived from another investment instrument, such as a commodity, currency, share price or interest rate. ETPs include ETFs and ETNs, which are described in further detail below.

Exchange Traded Funds ("ETFs"). An ETF is a type of index fund that trades like a common stock and represents either a fixed portfolio of securities designed to track a particular market index or an underlying commodity, such as gold. The risks of owning investment company securities generally reflect the risks of owning the underlying securities or other assets it owns or it otherwise is designed to track, although the potential lack of liquidity of ETFs could result in their being more volatile. Certain ETFs may employ leverage, which may increase their volatility and, as a result, the volatility of the investment.

Exchange Traded Notes ("ETNs"). ETNs are types of unsecured debt securities that track an underlying index of securities and trade on a major exchange like a stock. The repayment of the principal invested depends, in part, on the performance of the underlying index as well as the financial viability of the issuer. The financial institution issuing the ETN might use options to achieve the return from the index, which can increase the risk of losses to investors. Tracking errors may also occur if there are credit issues with the issuer and the price of the ETN deviates from the underlying index. If a financial institution decides not to issue new ETNs for a period, prices of existing ETNs could jump significantly due to the lack of supply. Trading activity for ETNs can be low or fluctuate dramatically.

Mutual Funds. Mutual fund investments, which for purposes of this discussion includes ETPs, carry the risk of capital loss. In addition, all mutual funds have costs that lower investment returns. Mutual funds can be of bond "fixed income" nature or stock "equity" nature. The level of risk in a mutual fund depends on what it invests in. Typically, the higher the potential returns, the higher the risk will be. For example, stocks are generally riskier than bonds, so an equity fund tends to be riskier than a fixed income fund. Six common types of risks generally applicable to both mutual funds and ETPs are: market risk, liquidity risk, credit risk, interest rate risk, country risk and currency risk. Each such risk is described in further detail below.

Market Risk. The value of the stocks and other securities invested in will fluctuate depending on the performance of the companies that issued them, general market and economic conditions, and investor confidence. The market also may fail to recognize the intrinsic worth of an investment or AthenaInvest may misgauge that worth. Equity securities may be subject to wide and sudden fluctuations in market value.

Liquidity Risk. During periods of limited liquidity and higher price volatility, AthenaInvest's ability to acquire or dispose of its investments at a price and time that it deems advantageous may be impaired. As a result, in periods of rising market prices, the Firm may be unable to participate fully in price increases because it may be unable to acquire desired positions quickly.

Credit Risk. Credit risk is the risk that an issuer may default if it is unable to make required interest payments and/or principal repayments when they are due. The degree of credit risk depends on both the financial condition of the issuer and the terms of the obligation. Changes in an issuer's credit rating or the market's perception of an issuer's credit risk can adversely affect the prices of the securities.

Interest Rate Risk. Prices of fixed income instruments, such as bonds, tend to move inversely with changes in interest rates. An increase in interest rates will generally cause bond prices to fall, which will affect the investment's value. Bonds with a longer maturity or effective duration may be more sensitive to changes in interest rates. Some bonds are subject to being prepaid or called by their issuer, which could alter the investment's expected cash flow. Failure of a company to make timely interest or principal payments or a decline in the credit quality of an issuer, may cause such company's bond price to fall. These risks may be greater for companies whose bonds are rated less than investment grade (i.e., junk bonds, as further described below) because of their greater risk of default.

Country Risk. Investing in the securities of foreign issuers involves special risks and considerations, including differences in accounting, auditing and financial reporting standards, etc. Foreign issuers may also be subject to less government regulation than U.S. companies. Moreover, the dividends and interest payable on foreign securities may be subject to foreign withholding taxes. Further, foreign securities often trade with less frequency and volume than domestic securities and, therefore, may exhibit greater price volatility. Changes in foreign exchange rates will affect, favorably or unfavorably, the value of those securities which are denominated or quoted in currencies other than the U.S. dollar.

Currency Risk. Currency risk, or exchange rate risk, refers to the exposure faced by investors or companies that operate across different countries, in regard to unpredictable gains or losses due to changes in the value of one currency in relation to another currency.

Common Equity Risk. Common equity risk is the financial risk involved in holding equity in a particular investment. Equity risk often refers to equity in companies through the purchase of stocks and does not commonly refer to the risk in paying into real estate or building equity in properties.

Options Risk. There is no assurance that a liquid secondary market on an exchange will exist for any particular option, or at any particular time, and for some options, such as over-the-counter options, no secondary market on an exchange may exist. The effectiveness of hedging through the purchase of securities index options will depend upon the extent to which price movements in the portion of the securities portfolio being hedged correlate with price movements in the selected securities index. Perfect correlation is not possible because the securities held or to be acquired will not exactly match the composition of the securities indexes on which options are written. In the purchase of securities index options the principal risk is that the premium and transaction costs paid in purchasing an option will be lost if the changes (increase in the case of a call, decrease in the case of a put) in the level of the index do not exceed the cost of the option.

Small and Mid-Size Company Risk. While small and mid-size companies may offer greater potential for capital appreciation than larger and more established companies, they may also involve greater risk of loss and price fluctuation. The trading markets for securities of smaller-cap issuers may be less liquid and more volatile than securities of larger companies. This means that AthenaInvest could have greater difficulty buying or selling a security of a smaller-cap issuer at an acceptable price, especially in periods of market volatility.

Short Sales Risk. If a security sold short increases in price, the Firm may have to cover its short position at a higher price than the short sale price, resulting in a loss. Brokers may require AthenaInvest to “cover” a short position at an inopportune time restricting the use of capital. To borrow the security, AthenaInvest may be required to pay a premium, which would increase the cost of the security sold short. The amount of any gain will be decreased, and the amount of any loss increased, by the amount of the premium, dividends, interest or expenses may be required to pay in connection with the short sale. Because a loss on a short sale arises from increases in the value of the security sold short, such loss is theoretically unlimited.

Leverage Risk. Utilization of leverage, by AthenaInvest and the underlying investments, is a speculative investment technique and involves certain unique risks. These risks include the possibility of higher volatility of the asset value, greater fluctuations in the total return and the possibility that one could lose more than its contributed capital. If current investment income on a portfolio is not sufficient to meet interest and other expenses connected with leveraging, it could be necessary to liquidate certain investments during unfavorable market conditions.

Emerging Markets. Investments in emerging markets may be considered speculative, and therefore may offer higher potential for gains and losses than investments in developed markets of the world. With respect to any emerging country, there may be greater potential for nationalization, expropriation or confiscatory taxation, political changes, government regulation, etc. In addition, it may be difficult to obtain and enforce a judgment in the courts of such countries. Economies of developing countries generally are heavily dependent upon international trade and, accordingly, have been and may continue to be adversely affected by trade barriers, exchange controls, managed adjustments in relative currency values and other protectionist measures imposed or negotiated by the countries with which they trade.

Derivatives Risk. Trading in derivatives, futures and options thereon are highly specialized activities, which while they may increase the total return in connection with the investments, may entail greater than ordinary investment risks. Derivatives markets and trading is highly volatile and influenced by factors such as changing supply and demand relationships, governmental programs and policies, national and international political and economic events and changes in interest rates.

Industry and Sector Risk. To the extent that AthenaInvest or its underlying investments invest in companies/funds in the same industries or sectors, performance will be susceptible to the economic, business or other developments that affect those industries or sectors.

Concentration Risk. Investors are subject to risks associated with concentrated investing (i.e., investing in a limited number of total investments). As a result, the value of client investments will be greatly affected by fluctuations in the value of a single or a few investments.

Volatility. Because of the nature of the Firm's trading activities, the results of the Firm's investments may fluctuate on a daily basis. Accordingly, clients should understand that the results of a particular period will not necessarily be indicative of results in future periods. Variance in the degree of volatility of the market from the Firm's expectations may produce significant losses to clients.

Item 9: Disciplinary Information

Registered investment advisers are required to disclose any material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary actions that would be material to your evaluation of the investment advisor and each investment advisor representative providing investment advice to you.

AthenaInvest has not been subject to any disciplinary action, whether criminal, civil or administrative (including regulatory) in any jurisdiction. Likewise, no persons involved in the management of the Firm have been subject to any such action.

Item 10: Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

AthenaInvest Advisors LLC has no affiliated companies.

Intermediaries

As further discussed in Item 5 "Fees and Compensation," when an individual investor contacts AthenaInvest to have or request his or her account(s) be managed by AthenaInvest, AthenaInvest refers the individual investor to Intermediaries: (i) with which AthenaInvest maintains a Separate Account Management service relationship; or (ii) that subscribe AthenaInvest's models or target portfolios to manage their clients' accounts or to make such services available to their clients.

Even though AthenaInvest does not receive extra or additional compensation or fees, other than as expressly set forth in this Brochure, for or from the clients referred to Intermediaries, it may present a conflict of interest because AthenaInvest can refer individual investors to the Intermediary that results, either directly or indirectly, in the most economic benefit to AthenaInvest, including the potential of certain performance-based fees.

To help mitigate this conflict of interest, AthenaInvest refers an individual investor to the Intermediary that fits the best to the individual investor based on:

- Ability of the Intermediary to best serve the client
- Location
- Other financial services requested by the individual investor
- Other services and products offered or available by the Intermediary
- Total costs to the individual investor

Private Funds

AthenaInvest and its affiliates may serve as the sponsors, general partners, investment advisers, financiers and various other advisory-related service providers of private funds and other enterprises. These affiliated firms are typically under common control with AthenaInvest.

AthenaInvest's business purpose is generally to act as an investment manager with respect to investment opportunities for its clients, including private funds. Certain personnel of AthenaInvest (including certain members of senior management) may devote some or up to substantially all of their time on affiliate-related business, and additional personnel may do so in the future. For example, portfolio managers spend time managing portfolios for AthenaInvest clients and clients of the Funds.

Further, certain employees of AthenaInvest may have family members and/or friends who are employed with, or are otherwise affiliated with, entities that provide services or engage in business transactions with AthenaInvest and/or its private funds, such as operating partners, investors in the Funds, brokers and lenders. Employees are required to disclose certain relationships to the Chief Compliance Officer ("CCO"), who monitors such relationships and related conflicts.

Item 11: Code of Ethics, Conflicts of Interest and Personal Trading

Code of Ethics

The Firm follows a Code of Ethics ("Code") that is designed to comply with Rule 204A-1 under the Advisers Act. A copy of the Firm's Code of Ethics is available to current and prospective clients upon request.

This Code establishes rules of conduct for all employees of the Firm and is designed to, among other things, govern personal securities trading activities in the accounts of supervised persons. The Code also includes safeguards designed to avoid conflicts of interests that could adversely affect our clients. In addition to requiring compliance with the applicable securities laws, the Code establishes policies and procedures designed to prevent the misuse of material, non-public information (including information regarding clients), and identifies activities that are either expressly prohibited or that require the CCO approval. Matters that could give rise to an appearance of impropriety, such as gift giving and solicitation, serving on boards of directors of public companies and political contribution payments and solicitation also require prior approval by the CCO.

The Code is based upon the principle that AthenaInvest and its employees owe a fiduciary duty to the clients to conduct their affairs, including personal securities transactions, in order to preclude:

- Serving our or any employee's own personal interest ahead of those of the clients;
- Taking inappropriate advantage of their position with the Firm;
- Any actual or potential conflicts of interest or any abuse of their position of trust and responsibility;
- Using nonpublic information gathered when providing services to clients for our own gains; and
- Engaging in any act, practice or course of business that is, or might be considered, fraudulent, deceptive, manipulative, or in violation of any applicable law, rule or regulation of a governmental agency.

The purpose of the Code is to preclude activities which may lead to or give the appearance of conflicts of interest, insider trading and other forms of prohibited or unethical business conduct.

AthenaInvest takes very seriously its fiduciary responsibility and regulatory obligations, and it requires all staff to comply with all applicable laws, rules and regulations as well as AthenaInvest's internal policies and procedures.

Any material conflicts of interest between you and our Firm, or our employees, are disclosed in this Brochure. If at any time, additional material conflicts of interest develop, we will provide you with written notification of the material conflicts of interest or an updated Brochure.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading for Associated Persons

We can buy or sell the same securities for clients that we already hold in our personal account. We can also buy for our personal account the same securities that clients already hold in their accounts. This presents a conflict of interest. To help mitigate this conflict of interest, AthenaInvest implemented the following policies and procedures. Our objective of the policies and procedures is not to permit our associated persons (or their immediate family members) to trade in a way that takes advantage of price movements caused by transactions in clients' accounts.

- AthenaInvest sets a blackout period for certain AthenaInvest's personnel (investment professional). During the blackout period, investment professionals are prohibited from buying or selling certain securities. Please note that this prohibition does not apply to an investment professional's account that is traded according to one of Athena's investment models in the framework of a typical trading cycle.
- We will also restrict trading for a particular security for our accounts or those of our associated person if there is a pending trade in that security in a client account.
- Trades for our accounts (and those of our associated persons) will be placed as part of a block trade with client trades, or individually after client trades have been completed. Please note that even if our trades are placed after our client trades, we can still receive a better price than the price received by the client trades.
- All persons associated with us are required to report their personal securities transactions to us quarterly.
- Additional information about block trades is provided in the Aggregation of Orders section of "Item 12: Brokerage Practices."

We actively monitor all trades on the part of persons associated with our Firm to eliminate conflicts of interest that may occur as a result of such trading activity in accordance with the AthenaInvest Code of Ethics.

Private Funds

As described in Items 5 and 6 above, the Firm and its affiliates are generally entitled to receive management fees and performance allocations from the Funds. The Firm and affiliates also can make investments in the Funds. Furthermore, employees and affiliates may receive various fees from the Funds and/or their investments for performing other services on behalf of or related to the Funds. Each of the foregoing may represent a material financial interest in the activities of the Funds.

The Firm or its affiliates' entitlement to performance fees from the Funds may incentivize us to cause the Funds to make more speculative investments than would be the case in the absence of such performance fee arrangement. However, investments made by AthenaInvest partners and employees may mitigate the effects of such conflict of interest.

Item 12: Brokerage Practices

Managed Account Brokers and Custodians

In most cases, AthenaInvest does not have the authority to determine which brokers or qualified custodian its clients use or the fees those clients are charged by their brokers or custodians. Although AthenaInvest has an existing relationship with many custodians and model platform providers, we may not be able to manage a client's account if it resides with a broker or custodian with which we do not have an existing contract.

Selection of Executing Brokers

When AthenaInvest is required to select broker-dealers for executions for or on behalf of our clients (for example, pooled investments where AthenaInvest acts as the advisor or sub-advisor, such as the Funds), AthenaInvest follows the procedures below. AthenaInvest's policy for selecting broker-dealers includes:

- Regulatory good-standing;
- Ability to carry out their services in a professional and timely manner;
- Experience and industry reputation;
- Capability with respect to securities to be traded;
- Financial viability of the firm;
- Consistent order fills on or inside the quotation spread;
- Competitiveness of transaction commissions; and
- Compliance with AthenaInvest's best execution policies and procedures.

Please note that neither AthenaInvest nor its personnel receive any financial benefit, either directly or indirectly, from any broker-dealers or custodians for the securities transactions. We currently do not receive any "soft-dollar" benefits from the brokers we execute transactions through.

Directed Brokerage

Clients may instruct us to execute any or all securities transactions for their accounts with or through one or more broker-dealers designated by the client. In these cases, the client is responsible for negotiating the terms and conditions (including, but not limited to, commission rates) relating to all services to be provided by the broker-dealers and the client is satisfied with the terms and conditions. In these situations, AthenaInvest has no responsibility for obtaining the best prices or any commission rates for transactions with or through the broker-dealer.

Clients should be aware that directing trades most likely will increase their transaction costs by a significant amount due to settlement charges imposed by qualified custodians. Clients who may want to direct our Firm to use a particular broker should understand that this may prevent us from aggregating trades with other clients and may also prevent us from obtaining the most favorable net price and execution. Thus, when directing brokerage business, you should consider whether the commission expenses and execution, clearance and settlement capabilities that you will obtain through your broker are adequately favorable in comparison to those that we would otherwise obtain for you. You are encouraged to discuss available alternatives with us.

Brokerage for Client Referrals

We do not receive client referrals from broker-dealers in exchange for cash or other compensation, such as brokerage services or research.

Aggregation of Orders

Our policy is to aggregate client transactions, also known as a "block trade," where possible and when advantageous to clients. In these instances, clients participating in any aggregated transactions receive an average share price and transaction costs are shared equally and on a pro-rata basis.

Clients will pay the same commission whether their transactions are placed as part of a block or on an individual basis. The objective of the aggregated orders will be to allocate the executions in a manner that is deemed equitable to the accounts involved.

Subject to our discretion regarding factual and market conditions, when we combine orders, each participating account pays or receives an average price per share for all transactions within a given block. We can also aggregate Athenainvest personnel's transactions with our clients' transactions; however, they will not be given preferential treatment.

Trade Errors

Athenainvest's policy and practice is to monitor and reconcile all trading activity, identify and resolve any trade errors promptly, document each trade error with our CCO's approval and maintain a trade error file.

Item 13: Review of Accounts

Direct Accounts

On an ongoing basis, our CCO or his or her designee reviews the direct accounts for:

- Client suitability;
- Conformance with the model portfolios and/or strategies selected by the client; and
- Compliance with restrictions imposed by the client, if any.

In addition, for the discretionary direct accounts, our CCO or his or her designee contacts the client at least annually to determine whether there have been any changes in the client's financial situation, investment profile or investment objectives, and whether the client wishes to impose any reasonable restrictions on the management of the account or reasonably modify existing restrictions. The client's investment profile is updated accordingly.

Sub-Advised Accounts

On an ongoing basis, our CCO or his or her designee reviews the sub-advised accounts for:

- Compliance with restrictions imposed by the client, if any; and
- Conformance with the model portfolios and/or strategies selected by the client.

Neither Athenainvest nor any of Athenainvest personnel review the sub-advised accounts for the client's suitability. Furthermore, neither Athenainvest nor any of Athenainvest personnel contact the clients. Intermediaries or their representatives are responsible for contacting their client at least annually to determine whether there have been any changes in the client's financial situation or investment objectives, and whether the client wishes to impose any reasonable restrictions on the management of the account or reasonably modify existing restrictions.

Other Types of Accounts (i.e., Investment Companies)

At the time of engaging in or signing a contract with investment companies, our CCO reviews the contract terms and conditions to make certain that it contains all requirements pursuant to 15(a) of the Company Act. In addition, our CCO reviews, on an ongoing basis, the accounts for which Athenainvest acts as investment adviser of a registered investment company to make certain that the management of the accounts is in line with the investment company's prospectus.

Private Funds

On an ongoing basis, our CCO or his or her designee reviews for compliance with each such Fund's investment guidelines and objectives, as may be revised from time to time. In addition, AthenaInvest's portfolio investments are regularly reviewed by the investment team to each Fund. Further, the Funds are audited on an annual basis by an independent public accounting firm.

Model or Target Accounts

AthenaInvest ensures that the model or target portfolios that are provided to third-parties who are responsible for trading client accounts are accurate and up-to-date. AthenaInvest does not have the responsibility or visibility to monitor these types of accounts daily.

Reports

Clients' securities and funds are maintained by qualified custodians. Clients receive, at least quarterly, account statements directly from the qualified custodian of the account that details all securities holdings and transactions in the account. The statements are sent either to the email or postal mailing address clients provided to the custodian. Clients should carefully review those statements promptly when clients receive them.

For the accounts referred by Intermediaries, depending on the Intermediaries, clients can receive additional accounts reports, such as quarterly performance reports, if available. AthenaInvest urges clients to review such reports and always compare the reports with the statements provided by the custodian.

Private Fund Reports

AthenaInvest generally provides Fund investors with (i) audited annual financial reports and (ii) unaudited quarterly financial reports. The Funds also provide their investors with (i) unaudited capital account balances, (ii) investment summary reports, as applicable, and (iii) annual tax information for the completion of tax returns. In addition to the information provided to all investors, AthenaInvest may provide certain Fund investors with additional information or more frequent reports that other Fund investors will not receive, possibly enabling such Fund investors to better assess the prospects and performance of the Funds. In addition, Fund investors may be provided with information about AthenaInvest and the Funds in response to questions and requests, and/or in connection with due diligence meetings and other communications, but such information will not be distributed to other Fund investors and prospective Fund investors who do not request such information. Each Fund investor is responsible for asking such questions as it believes are necessary in order to make its own investment decisions and must decide for itself whether the limited information provided by AthenaInvest is sufficient for its needs.

Item 14: Client Referrals and Other Compensation

AthenaInvest enters into joint advisory agreements with Intermediaries and their clients. These joint advisory agreements designate that Athena manage clients' assets or a portion thereof. AthenaInvest's management fees are outlined in the joint advisory agreement.

AthenaInvest does not pay any portion of its stated fee to the Intermediary and the Intermediary does not pay any portion of its stated fee to AthenaInvest.

From time to time, AthenaInvest pays unaffiliated individuals or organizations for client referrals. In such cases, AthenaInvest makes a solicitation disclosure of these payments to the referred client.

AthenaInvest may, upon request from an Intermediary and at AthenaInvest's sole discretion, pay for a portion of a client or prospecting event which the Intermediary holds or sponsors.

Private Funds

AthenaInvest generally does not compensate third parties for referrals of investors to the Funds, unless such persons are registered as broker dealers. In this regard, AthenaInvest and its affiliates can enter into placement agent agreements whereby third-party placement agents introduce investors to the Funds, whose fees generally are paid by the applicable Fund.

Certain individuals who are not employees may serve as senior advisors to AthenaInvest and/or sit on the investment committees of the Funds. Such individuals receive compensation from the Funds for services provided to the Funds in connection with investments. Such services include legal, financial and strategic advice and the fees for such services are negotiated on an arms' length basis.

Item 15: Custody

AthenaInvest is deemed to have custody of clients' funds and securities by virtue of its authority to make withdrawals from client accounts to pay advisory fees mentioned in Item 5 of this Brochure. Neither AthenaInvest nor its personnel take or maintain physical custody of client assets.

Clients' securities and funds are maintained by qualified custodians. Clients receive, at least quarterly, account statements directly from the qualified custodian of the account that details all securities holdings and transactions in the account. The statements are sent either to the email or postal mailing address clients provided to the custodian. Clients should carefully review those statements promptly when clients receive them.

For the accounts referred by Intermediaries, depending on the Intermediaries, clients can receive additional accounts reports, such as quarterly performance reports, if available. AthenaInvest urges clients to review such reports and always compare the reports with the statements provided by the custodian.

Private Funds

AthenaInvest uses third party unaffiliated qualified custodians to hold the funds and securities (other than privately offered uncertificated securities with limited transferability) of the Funds in accordance with current SEC rules and regulations. Although AthenaInvest is deemed to have custody of underlying assets of the Funds, AthenaInvest relies upon the pooled investment vehicles exemption from reporting and surprise examinations. Accordingly, the Funds are subject to a year-end audit by an independent public accounting firm that is registered with, and subject to inspection by, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, and audited financial statements of each Fund will be provided to the investors of such Fund within 120 days of the end of the fiscal year.

Item 16: Investment Discretion

Clients can authorize AthenaInvest to manage their accounts on a discretionary basis. Private fund assets are managed on a discretionary basis, although the general partner of a Fund can place certain restrictions upon such discretion (such restrictions are further detailed in the offering materials of each such Fund).

Discretionary authority means that clients give AthenaInvest a limited power of attorney to place trades on their behalf. However, this limited power of attorney does not allow AthenaInvest to withdraw money from clients' accounts, other than advisory fees if clients agree to give AthenaInvest such authority.

Clients grant AthenaInvest discretionary authority by completing the following items:

- Sign a contract with AthenaInvest that provides a limited power of attorney for AthenaInvest to place trades on their behalf. Any limitations to the trading authorization will be added to this agreement.
- Provide AthenaInvest with discretionary authority on the new account forms that are submitted to the broker/dealer acting as custodian for the clients' account(s).
- Sign a subscription agreement and/or LPA in connection with a private fund investment.

AthenaInvest also offers non-discretionary advisory services. If clients elect to engage AthenaInvest to manage assets on a non-discretionary basis, AthenaInvest will contact the clients before each trade is placed in their accounts.

Item 17: Voting Client Securities

For direct and sub-advised accounts, neither AthenaInvest nor its personnel take any action or renders any advice to clients with respect to the voting of proxies solicited by, or with respect to, the issuers of any securities held in clients' accounts. In other words, clients retain the authority and responsibility to vote proxies for their accounts and cannot contact AthenaInvest concerning such information. The custodian will directly deliver to the client all proxies and other related materials. Furthermore, neither AthenaInvest nor its personnel have any obligation(s) to render advice or take any action with respect to securities or other investments, or the issuers thereof, which become subject to any regulatory, legal or other proceeding(s), including bankruptcies.

With respect to sub-advisory services for registered investment companies and other pooled investment vehicles that require us to vote proxies, such as the Funds, AthenaInvest has proxy voting policies and procedures. In this regard, AthenaInvest will seek to vote all proxies in the best interest of the client/shareholders to maximize the value of securities while still maintaining the portfolio's investment objective. To achieve and support AthenaInvest's proxy voting objective, AthenaInvest has adopted proxy voting guidelines in regards to various categories of business decisions. On occasion, a conflict of interest may exist between AthenaInvest and clients regarding the outcome of certain proxy votes. In such cases, AthenaInvest is committed to resolving the conflict in the best interest of our clients before we vote the proxy in question. To the extent applicable, the Firm will ensure that all relevant information concerning the proxy vote is maintained.

Clients may obtain information about how we voted their securities and/or request a copy of our proxy voting policies and procedures by contacting us in writing either via mail or fax:

AthenaInvest Advisors LLC 5340 S. Quebec St., Suite 320-S Greenwood Village, CO 80111 Fax: (303) 721-6294

Class Action Matters

Please note, however, that we will not take any action or render any advice as to materials received relating to any class-action lawsuit involving a security held in your account. We will, under such circumstances, promptly forward to you any such class-action lawsuit materials for direct action by you.

Item 18: Financial Information

AthenaInvest has not been the subject of bankruptcy proceeding and we are not aware of any financial conditions that are reasonably likely to impair our ability to meet our contractual obligations to clients.
